By JOE CASHMAN

FENWAY PARK, July 25.—The pennant-dreaming Boston public, 20,000 strong, thundered welcome as our sensational Red Sox returned home for a doubleheader opener of a five-game series with the White Sox this afternoon after a road trip which saw them jump into the thick of flag contention by 17 games in 22 starts.

Spanking Wife No Grounds For Divorce

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 25 (AP)—An Alabama wife, the state supreme court has decided, may not divorce her husband merely because he gave her a spanking.

Justice A. B. Foster held the husband in question spanked his spouse "as he would a child" and that this was "wholly unjustified and reprehensible." The court, however, dissolved a lower court divorce and ordered a $30 monthly separate maintenance judgment to stand.

The row, the justice said, started about a widow living across the street.

PAROLE QUIZ HITS THREE GOVERNORS

At least three governors ignored the law in granting 30 pardons, secured by payment of money, Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware charged today before the legal affairs committee hearing recommendations of a special commission on pardons on changes in the pardon system.

Sawyer declared he did not charge any of the governors or members of their executive councils with receiving money paid for pardons, but added:

"I do charge that had either of the three governors obeyed the laws on the statute books the pardons would never have been issued."

The governors, Sawyer declared, ignored existing statutes by granting pardons without requesting records of prisoners, or notifying the commissioner of correction, district attorney or the parole board, as required.

Without using any games he cited details of three of the cases. Meanwhile the Senate ways and means committee was adding its sanction to the $8000 additional funds voted the commission by the House, as Sawyer was contributing his sensational testimony in the hearing room.

ASSAILS EX-GOV. HURLEY

The clergyman-legislator did not identify the three governors, but later assailed the action of ex-Governor Charles F. Hurley and his council, after Hurley's defeat at the primary last fall, charging it was "the boldest and most defiant attitude ever assumed in the executive department in this state."

"They started with a program to release 28 prisoners," charged Sawyer, but stopped with the release of 15 prisoners because of the public outcry over release of Raymond L. S. Pearce, former Rhode Island public enemy, and John Tartar, the latter now being sought as criminally insane.

Patterson, a now under charges of violating parole for taking a Florida honeymoon, and is facing new robbery charges.

CITES THESE CASES

The three specific cases cited by Sawyer were:

"1.—Alfred, boy gang leader at nine, sent to Lyman School; released, arrested for breaking and entering, put on probation, arrested for larceny, returned to Lyman School; liberated, arrested."

Quins Now Take Daily Dozen to Be Streamlined

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS).—The Dionne quintuplets are getting plump. Being ladies, that won't do, so they're on a diet and are exercising.

"They make me exercise with them," said their physician, Dr. Allan Roy Dufor, who was in New York today to preview a newsworld of his charges and see the fair. "They say I'm not so good at it."

The quins do their daily dozen to music. In their diet, starchy foods have been cut 50 per cent. "They'll soon be streamlined again," the doctor predicted.

Drouth Perils N. E. Crops; No Relief From Sun in Sight

Another dry day, with no moisture in sight, led to fears today that New England's truck and hay crops are doomed by the worst drouth in a score of years.

Department of Agriculture officials claim that only a two or three day rain can save the crops in Western Massachusetts and New Hampshire, scorched by the sun.

The weather man would predict no relief, beyond possible thunder-showers Thursday.

Mills using water power were looking forward to tapping their reserve water heads, as the water table sank slowly throughout New England.

Hay crops were drying up in the New Hampshire dairy area, and a fire smoldered stubbornly in a Norwood pest bog.

States tourists are reported coming to the northeast to escape scorching heat.

Gentle southwesterly breezes gave assurance of continued fair skies.

Today's temperatures are predicted to parallel those of yesterday, when it was 60 in Gloucester at 8:30 a. m., 69 at Chatham, 74 in Falmouth, 69 at Orleans.

In other parts of the country, however, the mercury reached almost to the top of the thermometer—96 in Quebec; 91 Paso, Tex., 95, Phoenix, Ariz., 106; Abilene, Tex., 98; Fargo, N. D., 93.

Saltonstall Mum In Callahan Case

Governor Saltonstall today declined to comment on persistent reports on Beacon Hill that he will demand the ouster of Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan at tomorrow's executive council meeting.

Nudist Suicide Foiled as Man Battles Police

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—A naked man who threatened to leap from the third floor window of a West 22d street rooming house early today was subdued after a fierce struggle with a dozen policemen and six firemen.

A crowd of several hundred persons, drawn by the man's shouts, watched police foil his threatened death leap with neat teamwork. After a life net had been spread beneath him, a sheet was dropped over his head from the floor above while several policemen reached through the window and grabbed his legs.

Kicking and clawing with seeming superhuman strength, he fought their attempts to drag him to safety.

Two sedatives administered by ambulance surgeons failed to quiet him. Six policemen had to tie him with ropes in a sheet used as an improvised straitjacket before they could remove him to the Bellevue psychopathic ward for observation.

Police identified the man as Norman Milender, 31.

Dorchester Nudist Baby Defended by Neighbors

Romperless rompings of sun-tanned little 11-months-old Bruce Bugbee Dorr of Algonquin street, Dorchester, were emphatically defended today by neighbors and tradesmen. Even the letter carrier on the route put down his bag of mail, took young Bruce's tiny fist in his own big hand and said: "If I had a baby boy as handsome and husky as this little

HEIRESS, CROONER ROMANCE BALKED

NEW YORK, July 25—It was "Mother, may I go out and dance?" with the answer:

"Yes, my darling daughter. Step and shuffle, slide and prance, but don't go near the crooner."

But lovely Barbara Smith, potential heiress to the patent-medicine millions of her mother, Mrs. William Z. Breed, of Park avenue, couldn't resist the crooning of Ray Morton, once a saxophone player at the Rainbow Room, now the head of his own orchestra at the Warwick.

They're engaged, but not if Mrs. Breed has anything to say about it. She has whisked Barbara off to Bermuda for a two-month stay with the ultimatum:

"Forget him, or else"—and the else is a threat of disinheritance. Barbara, reading long clipper mail letters every day, is trying to decide—life in a mansion alone, or wedded bliss in a crooner's cottage.

Mother of 6 Slain, Husband Missing

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Mrs. Genevieve Abbruzzese, 48, mother of six children, was shot and killed by an unidentified assailant today in her Bronx home.

Her husband, Edward Abbruzzese, 52, WPA laborer, could not be found when their children, awakened by the firing of three shots, rushed to their mother's bedroom.

"Man Without Enemy" Slain

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS)—A man who claimed he "didn't have an enemy in the world" died today in Fordham Hospital shortly after five bullets were pumped into his body by two gunmen near his Bronx home. The victim was Isadore Penn, 42, employee of a Tin Pan alley music publishing firm.

fellow here I'd take him to Boston Common for his daily sunbath."

Meantime, if there were any further complaints against the "one-baby nudist colony" in the Dorr front yard, they were being made without public fanfare.

DEFIES CRITIC AGAIN

Police said the woman neighbor who characterized youthful Bruce's diaperless sun bathing as a "shocking spectacle" had failed to follow up her telephoned protest.

The Dorr baby, unclad as usual, was out in the yard again today, according to his regular schedule, absorbing his hour-long quota of ultra-violet rays.

His young mother, Mrs. Constance Dorr, sat with him on the grass, keeping a watchful eye on his play.

On hand also, rallying to Baby Bruce's defense, was his doting grandmother, Mrs. Florence Bugbee.

"Just look at the little love!" she said.

"He's as sweet a sight as any child I ever saw—and I've raised a family of my own. Anyone who would object to his sunbathing as immodest would put pants on a puppy dog."

Mrs. Bugbee's views were heartily endorsed by the Dorr family lemmings.

"I could hardly believe it when I read in the paper how somebody had the nerve to kick about this sweet kid getting the sun in his own front yard," he commented.

Among Bruce Dorr's other defenders today were two Algonquin street neighbors.

"SILLY THING TO DO"

Mrs. Joseph McElvray, who lives next door to the Dorr, said:

"I'm a grandmother and I've brought up seven children on this street. I certainly can't see anything immodest in that pretty little boy playing in the sun."

"I suppose, if anybody really criticizes Mrs. Dorr, she can shut them up by putting a diaper on the child. But, my goodness gracious, he's no more immodest than that cute, fluffy white

Jack Sharkey's Wife Defaults $300 Bail

Mrs. Dorothy Sharkey, 37-year-old wife of the former heavyweight champion of the world, skipped $300 bail today in Waltham court where she was to appear on a charge of drunkenness.

At the same time the court granted an application by Watertown police charging the ex-boxer's wife and the mother of his two children with causing property damage and leaving the scene of an accident without identifying herself.

Other charges will follow, according to police.

Mrs. Sharkey was arrested, police said, after her car had crashed into a traffic sign near Watertown square. Police chased her a quarter of a mile before they could arrest her, they told the court.

10 Year Diet Of Lollypops Fatal to Girl

EAST ORANGE, N. J., July 24 (AP)—Medical science today closed the case history of 29-year-old Linnea Fransson, whose life thread survived a 10-year diet of lollypops, ginger ale, lemonade and water.

Miss Fransson died Sunday, two weeks after a 10-day observation stay at Orange Memorial Hospital. Assistant Medical Examiner George P. Olcott said chronic malnutrition caused death.

"Miss Fransson was a victim of major hysteria," Dr. Olcott said. "She was operated on when she was 19 for chronic appendicitis and had the idea she couldn't eat certain things and didn't eat them."

The autopsy I performed showed no reason for starvation.

'MISS BAY STATE' FETED AT N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR

Fairest daughter of Massachusetts, Miss Alva A. Pearson of 108 Amherst street, Worcester, arrived today in New York aboard the Eastern Steamship Company coastal liner Boston—as her state's representative at the World's Fair.

ALVA PEARSON AND GOVERNOR SALTONSTALL
State Chief Gives Her Introduction Letter

PHOTOS ARE CLUE TO AGED SUICIDE

He must have felt alone and friendless—that gaunt, gray-haired man who hanged himself last week in Hart's Hill reservation woods, Wakefield.

But in his pocket police found two photographs, snapshot prints worn from much handling.

One was of a dark-haired young woman in a polka-dot dress. The other was of a smiling little girl on a bicycle, playing with a dog. "Probably relatives," the Wakefield medical examiner said. "Maybe daughter and granddaughter of the dead man. They—or somebody—will be around to identify him."

WAIT IN VAIN

But day followed day—and no body arrived at the Wakefield morgue. And the body of the gaunt, gray-haired man continued to lay there unclaimed.

It was still unclaimed and still unidentified today. Police said they hadn't been able to find the young woman in the polka dot dress or the smiling little girl with the bicycle and the dog.

Perhaps they live far away. Perhaps they aren't related at all to the man who hanged himself in the Hart's Hill woods.

DO YOU KNOW THEM?

But they must have had a place in his heart. He must have taken their pictures from his pocket many times when he was lonely. So police hoped today that publication of the pictures in the Boston Evening American might make it unnecessary for the suicide victim to be buried in a nameless grave.

Do YOU know either of the persons shown in the snapshots?

If you do, communicate at once with the Wakefield police or TELEPHONE THE CITY EDITOR of the BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, Liberty 4001.

Battle to Save Life Of Injured Student

Richard A. Matthews, 22, of Allston street, Dorchester, Boston University honor graduate, whose left leg was amputated after his motorcycle crashed into a pole on the Worcester Turnpike, was in a critical condition at the Newton Hospital today as doctors prepared for another blood transfusion.

Miss Pearson, 20-year-old blonde, Nordic type, one typical of the Bay State's young ladies, arrived in Boston yesterday for a day before taking the steamer for New York.

At the State House she was given a letter by Governor Saltonstall to Roswell L. Atwood, in charge of the Massachusetts exhibit at the Fair.

This introduced her as the girl awarded the title "Miss Massachusetts" by the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser in an exciting contest conducted to find a truly representative girl for this state at the fair.

Yesterday was a day of days for Alva, and today was another day of days. In fact all this week will be a Cinderella Week for the Worcester girl who was given yesterday in Boston a welcome fit for a queen.

Alva came to Boston with her mother, who will accompany her throughout the week.

For this entire week, Alva will be a Cinderella come to life, even to shopping at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, at Madison avenue and 46th street, where all her friends may address her by telegraph and letter.

After arrival of the boat, breakfast in state, posing for news cameramen and interviews, she was presented formally by Leo Casey of the World's Fair press department to Roswell L. Atwood, director of Massachusetts' exhibit.

Japan Blockades U. S. From River

HONGKONG, July 25 (AP)—The Japanese consular at Canton has notified consular authorities of other nations, including the United States, that for "military reasons" the Japanese navy will close the Canton river for two weeks starting at midnight tomorrow.

The move was reliably reported in this British Crown colony to be in the nature of a blockade to cut shipping between Hongkong and Canton and in conjunction with this measure, it was said, the Japanese planned a blockade of British and French concessions on Canton's Shamen Island.

It was reported that Japanese sentries would be posted at both bridge entrances to Shamen where the United States consulates and American business houses also are located.

The Shamen sentries, it was disclosed, will search all persons entering or leaving the island—a practice similar to that followed in the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin, started June 14.

SUICIDE CARRIED THESE PIX

DO YOU KNOW either of these persons? If so, the Wakefield police would like you to get in touch with them. These are pictures found in the pocket of an unidentified man who hanged himself in Wakefield. If the subjects of these photographs can be located, perhaps the hanging victim can be identified.

ROLL CALL SOUGHT ON SALES TAX

Determined to force a showdown in the legislature on the modified sales tax scheme, which is designed to reap $55,000,000 in new revenues this year and next, opponents of the measure today worked to corner 30 votes which would make a roll call necessary.

Labor organizations and such outside groups as the Boston retail trade board of the Chamber of Commerce exerted all the pressure possible to block the proposal, which is due to come up for debate in the House tomorrow or Thursday.

Legislators in general have shied away from sales tax plans and it was reported the newest measure will fail if opponents succeed in forcing a roll call.

So "touchy" is the subject that Speaker Christian A. Her refused to entertain a vote when he outlined the plan at a meeting of Republicans yesterday. Democratic party leaders and means in calling the attention of their associates to the scheme.

The new tax proposal was drawn up by the House ways and means committee as an answer to Governor Saltonstall's demand for levies which will provide the state with $50,000,000.

In shaping the new plan, legislators have exempted such necessities as food, drugs and medicine, as well as newspapers and periodicals, clothes costing $3 or less and household fuel.

Supporters of the scheme were encouraged by Governor Saltonstall's statement that he did not wish to "close the door" on alternatives to his taxation plan.

Divers Resume Work on Squalus

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 25 (AP)—Resuming underwater operations at the scene of the Squalus disaster after a day's lull because of rough weather, divers aboard the salvage ship Falcon attached a raising line to No. 7 pontoon today, preparatory to bringing it to the surface for inspection.

LOTTERY PROBERS BEFORE U. S. JURY

More than a score of witnesses, including victims, postal inspectors and police who have been working under cover for months, lined up outside the federal grand jury room today to testify for the second day regarding widespread ramifications of a nationwide lottery ring.

U. S. Attorney Edmund J. Brandon disclosed that evidence so far taken, which includes the testimony of Mrs. Will Rogers, died of the humorist, promises to smash one of the biggest lottery rings in the country.

The ring, he revealed, operated from coast to coast and from border to border, and had garnered at least $20,000,000 from gullible Americans who wanted to risk small sums and reap big ones.

90 PER CENT FAKES

"Certainly the public at large will be made aware of the fact that probably 90 per cent of the lotteries in which they are offered tickets are fakes," said Brandon.

Mrs. Rogers, it was disclosed, would accept only her fare from New York and return, refusing proffered mileage from Hollywood, where she makes her home. She asked that the balance be given to the Will Rogers Memorial, the institution whose name was used by fake lottery promoters against whom she testified.

Owen D. Young, chairman of the Memorial Committee, is expected to testify later about efforts of lottery promoters to get the Commission's sanction.

The sanction was refused, according to the government, but the lottery promoters used the name anyway.

Demands New Haven Reopen 88 Stations

In an effort to force a quick showdown, Assistant Attorney-General Edward Pece demanded today that the New Haven Railroad be ordered by the State Public Utilities Commission to reopen at once 88 stations already abandoned on the Old Colony, the Boston & Providence and the New England lines.

Injured 'Boy Nobody Knew' Is Identified

Identified after 16 hours as Billy Blanchard, six-year-old grandson of Mrs. Florence Richards of 50 Main street, Quincy Point, the enigma of the mystery boy at Quincy Hospital was completely solved today.

The youngster, struck by an automobile while in Upland road, about two miles from his home, at 5:50 last night, was in the hospital until 9:50 today without anyone being able to name him. Suffering from a broken leg and a slight concussion, he was not able to help.

Today, however, Mrs. Richards reported him missing, and the identification was established.

He had left the house and she believed he was with her mother, Mrs. Valeria Davis, 80. She then retired, but, in the morning, found her mother there, the boy gone. She was unable to explain how he had reached the place where he was struck.

The car was driven by Frank Wade, 195 Upland road, Quincy, who took him to the hospital.

Dixie Clipper Will Bring Stranded Home

HORTA, The Azores, July 25 (AP)—Eight passengers of the westbound Atlantic Clipper remained here today as a result of a minor mishap to the hull when the giant flying boat alighted here yesterday.

(Pan-American Airways officials at Baltimore said the passengers would complete their trip to the United States aboard the Dixie Clipper, which leaves Port Washington, N. Y., for Lisbon, Wednesday afternoon, and is due to touch Horta on the return trip Saturday.)

In line with the state's contention that the matter is within the jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission in that all stations affected are within the borders of Massachusetts, Pece asked the commission for a quick ruling.

MATTER OF PRINCIPLE

The demand is in effect in defiance of an order of the U. S. District Court in Connecticut.

The principle involved is fundamental in that it entails the claimed right of the state of control over the carriers within its boundaries.

A similar proceeding, involving 17 of the stations, is now pending before the U. S. Supreme Court.

The proceedings before the Utilities Commission, begun before the railroad announced its plan to abandon all passenger service on the Old Colony line serving some 2,000,000 people in the whole of southeastern Massachusetts, has become, nevertheless, a part of the fight against the total abandonment plan.

CALL FIGURES FALSE

The New Haven, in seeking to end passenger service over the Old Colony on September 24—retaining the profitable freight service—contends that it has been operated at a $14,000,000 deficit during the last several years. The Connecticut Federal Court has ruled that this deficit is a first lien.

The state contends the deficit is not a true figure, that the railroad has deliberately falsified statements, and loaded the Old Colony with expenses, along with the Boston and Providence and the New England lines.

In this connection maintenance costs of the South station are borne by the Boston & Providence because the New Haven, using its lines from Providence, does not run directly into the station.

Witness testified before the commission today that the New Haven uses space worth $58,000 a year in the South station, and pays but $18,000.

Attorney-General Dever asserts he believes the railroad is trying to achieve two objectives—to force the state to pay a subsidy for continued operation of the Old Colony passenger service, and to force the sale to the New Haven cheaply of the Boston and Providence line.

Mother Gives Up 2 Children She Kidnaped

NEW YORK, July 25—Court orders are but scraps of paper to a mother deprived of her children, according to Mrs. Ruth Baxter Beiling of 715 Madison avenue, ex-artist model and principal in a sensational divorce fight with the wealthy Charles P. Beiling.

Ignoring all such, Mrs. Beiling yesterday invaded the home of Mrs. Augusta Herman, 74 Rutland road, Freeport, L. I., where the children, Barbara, 4, and Gloria, 3, had been placed by court order.

After a brief argument, Mrs. Beiling emerged, a child clinging to each hand, and headed for home, where she barricaded them and herself in.

Arrival of an agent from the Children's Society and two patrolmen changed her mind, however, and she agreed to turn the children back to the court today if allowed to keep them over night.

Both she and her husband sued for divorce, but neither was awarded a decree, nor did either get the children. Her husband accused her of parading her figure before a family friend, saying:

"Haven't I a nice figure?"

Missing Hub Yacht Safe With 5 Aboard

Safe after a 20-hour ordeal adrift in a crippled power boat in fog-shrouded waters off Cape Cod, a yachting party of five, including a woman and two boys, reached Scituate today.

Their 48-foot cabin cruiser Clambo brought them into port, as an intensive coast guard search for them was being conducted.

Engineer Russell Cole of the Clambo said he had finally been able to repair a broken oil line.

YACHT IN PERIL

The task was one which was accomplished under hazardous conditions, at cost of a night of back-breaking toil, with the luxurious Clambo—sleek and fast but none too seaworthy—pitching and rolling in a heavy swell that several times threatened to swamp her.

Aboard the cruiser were her owner, Edward H. Baker, Brookline auto dealer; his son, Nicholas, 17; Mrs. Francis Kendall of Golden street, Belmont; her son, Clark, 16, and Cole, the engineer. Mrs. Kendall's husband is a Boston banker.

Anxious friends and relatives who had feared for safety of the party hailed with relief the belated arrival of the Clambo at her Scituate anchorage.

Engineer Cole told the story of the ordeal.

"We left Provincetown at noon yesterday," he said. "Two hours later an oil line let go, putting our motor out of commission."

FLEW DISTRESS SIGNAL

"There was a heavy swell running and it was impossible to make repairs, the boat was rolling and tossing so much. We got an anchor over, but it dragged. Things didn't look too good."

"We hoisted a couple of sheets as a distress signal, then after it got dark we shot off flares. Nobody sighted us, apparently."

"When the sea calmed down a little, we got to work on the engine. It was a tough job, but we finally finished it at one a. m.

"The weather was thick then, and we didn't know just where we were. So we headed due west, nosing into the fog."

CAME IN AS FOG LIFTED

"After a while, we picked up a buoy, but couldn't make out its markings. Mr. Baker and I got into the tender and rowed right to the buoy itself. It was the seven-mile marker off Humarock beach."

"We knew we were okay then, so young Nick Baker and I stood watch for the rest of the night, while the rest of the party turned in to get a little sleep."

"Soon as the fog lifted today, we came into Scituate harbor without any further trouble."

Hitch Hiker Robs Samaritan Who Gets Him a Job

ROCHESTER, N. H., July 25 (AP)—When Paul Sikora, employed in wrecking the old Rochester high school, met a hitch hiker who had no job, no money and no friends, he decided to do something about it.

So, he got the stranger a job. He allowed him to board with him.

Sikora reported to police today the new acquaintance had vanished, taking with him $5, trousers, a dress shirt and two pairs of socks.

Nazi Aide In London Revives Loan Talk

LONDON, July 25 (INS)—Presence here today of a mysterious envoy from the Reich's economics ministry gave rise to speculation as to whether a sequel might develop to Britain's disavowed $5,000,000,000 peace loan to Chancellor Hitler.

The visitor was Dr. M. Martens, who arrived from Berlin last night. He is a lieutenant of Dr. Helmuth Wohlbat, the successor to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht as kingpin of Nazi economics, who figured in the reports of the British "peace loan" as the recipient of a scheme by overseas trade secretary Robert S. Hudson to win a peace pledge from Hitler in return for the loan and other financial favors.

BULLETIN

LONDON, July 25 (INS)—Ten thousand Polish frontier guards, with instructions to take drastic action if a single shot is fired against them have been massed along the eastern frontier of the Danzig Free City area, according to dispatches from Warsaw to the Left Wing London Daily Herald.

The British government flatly threw down the reported appeasement project in declarations in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and the House of Lords by Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary.

Dr. Martens' arrival, however, caused tongues to wag in diplomatic and political circles. While his visit may and probably will turn out to be innocent and explainable, rumors spread by may have come with some message from the reichschancellor connected with a possible "honorable peace" plan.

A government scandal was threatened by the Hudson affair. The young trade secretary had "threatened to tell all" the inside secrets of the scheme to the House of Commons in the event he should be forced to resign because of public disavowal of his government-labeled "fantastic" scheme for settlement of Anglo-German difficulties.

Hudson, however, appeared to have thought the matter over and decided to remain at his post.

Japs Claim 41 More Soviet Planes Down

TOKYO, July 25 (AP)—The Japanese army headquarters at Hankow, Manchukuo, announced today that Japanese planes had brought down 41 Soviet planes out of a fleet of 160 in a battle over Nomonhan Hill, near the disputed outer Mongolian and Manchouliagan border.

FRANCO INTENSIFIES 'PURGE'

MENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, July 25 (INS)—Gen. Francisco Franco, intensifying his "purge" to put down an incipient military revolt against Italo-German influence in Spain, dismissed the veteran Gen. Juan Solchaga from the command of the Galician army corps, according to reports reaching the frontier today.

It was the third removal of a high Spanish army official from his post within the past four days. Gen. Solchaga, who won fame for his tactical successes against the Republican army during the recent civil war, was reported to have been placed under police surveillance at Burgos, Dictator Franco's headquarters.

Hint F. D. to Support Walsh-Dever Ticket

WASHINGTON, July 25 (INS)—President Roosevelt, it was learned today, is in favor of a Walsh-Dever state ticket in Massachusetts in the next election.

The President, according to reliable information in Massachusetts circles in Washington, has assured Senator David I. Walsh (D.) that he will back him for reelection.

At the same time, it was learned that the President has informed Walsh that he was in favor of the candidacy of Attorney General Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts for governor.

Speculation that the President may make a trip to Boston for a speech to endorse the Walsh-Dever ticket went without confirmation.

However, it was pointed out that President Roosevelt planned a trip to Maine after Congress adjourns and it was believed possible he might stop in Boston on the return trip.

The information that the President was in favor of Walsh and Dever came from Capitol Hill. The White House, as yet, had no comment.

(An exclusive inside "tip" on this political development in George Holland's "Boston After Dark," Page 17, today.)

LOUISIANA AIDE QUIT IN PROBE

NEW ORLEANS, July 25 (INS)—Resignation of William G. Rankin, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, today aroused widespread comment as investigators continued to delve into the multi-angled Louisiana political graft scandals.

Rankin's resignation followed a demand by the Young Men's Business Club of New Orleans that they be permitted to examine the books of the conservation department.

Shortly after Rankin's resignation was made public, Governor Long announced that Dr. J. A. Shaw, discharged head of the mineral's division of the conservation department, had been reinstated as chief of this division. Dr. Shaw is in active control of Louisiana's $300,000,000 oil industry.

These developments came as the federal government in two separate moves indicated that nothing would hinder its many-sided investigation of charges of graft and corruption on a scale without parallel in the state's history.

First indication that government plans to move forward with all possible rapidity came when United States Attorney Viosca announced that the trial of Seymour Weiss, one time confidante of Huey Long, Dr. James Monroe Smith, resigned president of the Louisiana State University, and three others, would begin September 5.

Bare Treason Acts At Bridges Trial

ANGEL ISLAND, Cal., July 25 (INS)—Carrying a small brown satchel which was said to contain evidence important to the government's case, Officer Merriell R. Bacon of the Portland, Ore., police department returned to the witness stand today at the Harry Bridges deportation hearing.

Bacon, a cop who enrolled in the Communist party and performed considerable spy work, refused to reveal the contents of his satchel.

As he returned to the closely guarded hearing room.

"Leaders in the party told us at fraction meetings that the revolution would be fought with bullets—not with ballots," testified the 45-year-old witness.

Bacon and Theodore M. Stark, an ex-Communist organizer from Bellingham, Wash., were qualified by government attorneys as experts on the aims, purposes and secret maneuvers of the Communist party.

Ex-Communist Organizer Stark proved to be another hard-hitting witness for the government, delivering scores of telling blows.

In exposing alleged "behind-the-scenes" activities of the Communists, Stark told of a U. S. soldier from Fort Lawton, Wash., addressing a Red meeting in Seattle in 1936.

The soldier, wearing a mask to conceal his identity, bragged about how he was carrying out Communist orders to bore into the army as the hammer-and-sickle group might use it when the revolution comes, Stark testified.

The witness told of other Moscow-inspired acts of treason—how Communist machinists were at work in the U. S. Navy Yard at Bremerton, Wash., in the Boeing airplane plant at Seattle, and how a Communist "cell" was active aboard the U. S. S. Oklahoma.

ed for traffic violation, fined $16. "Arrested for abduction, charge dismissed; arrested for disturbing peace, given 30 days in House of Correction; arrested for disturbing peace, six months House of Correction; arrested for robbery, found not guilty.

"Arrested for armed robbery, two counts, sentenced to 21-24 years in state prison—granted a full pardon after nine years and four months without consulting parole board, head of the penal institution, notifying attorney general and district attorney or holding any public hearing.

"This man had never done six months' honest work in his whole life. All the education he ever received was in reform school. At the time he was sentenced he was a member of a well known gang of robbers.

"A man with a long record pardoned after serving seven years of an 8-10-year sentence for armed robbery and armed assault."

HAD BAD JAIL RECORD

Sawyer said this man's record as a prisoner "for disobedience, fighting in chapel, attempts to pass letters, injury to property, disturbance and shirking was one of the worst in Charlestown (state prison). His pardon was protested by the commissioner of correction."

Sawyer said this man had been pardoned "by the governor without advice of the parole board, without notifying the prosecuting officer.

"Had been picked up after his pardon within two months in a long burglar's tools, sent to house of correction, escaped twice, finally apprehended after assault with intent to murder which was not proved, but convicted on several counts for armed robbery and sentenced 21-25 years."

GETS EARLY PARDON

"The man in this case had a long prior record of crime and sentence and finally was sent away on four sentences of 5-10 years each, running concurrently, two sentences of 15-20 years each running concurrently on charges of burglary, breaking and entering while armed.

"Pardoned after serving one year and six months, without the governor asking for the record of his case or the advice of the parole board."

STAIR FALL FATAL

Falling down 15 stairs in his rooming house on Causeway street, West End, Peter Connerney, 66, was fatally injured. He was pronounced dead by a physician summoned by the proprietor, Mrs. Albertine Ladrouse.

As baffling a case as has confronted detectives in years was gradually being pieced together with help from Texas and Oklahoma authorities.

But why the scholarly instructor at West State Teachers College left the University of Oklahoma on July 8 "under peculiar circumstances" and registered five days later in a 50-cent South End lodging house may remain an unsolved mystery.

Homicide squad reports on the sudden death, attributed to "natural causes" by Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, will remain open until the young wife views the body and talks with detectives.

The 16-day interlude between Johnston's departure from Norman, Okla., with a mysterious stranger and only $150 in cash and finding of his nude body in the dingy room gripped the attention of investigators today.

TOMORROW—REGIMENT, DOUBLE-TIME!

HELEN CLAIRE, the celebrated Cindy Lou of Clare Booth's Broadway hit comedy, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," and Marlehead's director, Jack Munro, go over manuscript of the play which will be presented tonight by the North Shore players for the first time in the vicinity of Boston.

Helen Claire Almost Lost 'Kiss the Boys Goodbye' Lead

By PEGGY DOYLE

For years, Alabama-born Helen Claire fought that accent that's as sweet as Georgia honey. Then along came the Cindy Lou role in Clare Booth's subsequent Broadway hit comedy, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," and she almost lost it because they insisted she was a Northerner.

But Miss Claire didn't get a Phi Beta Kappa key for nothing.

"I'd learned you can't be too obvious. When they turned me down for the part, I decided I'd have to dress for it. It was late afternoon. The department stores were closed, so I went down to 14th street before I bought the most feminine flowered cotton dress I could find. At the Five and Ten, I found some lace ruffling but double. I sewed it around the neck, the sleeves and the hem. I put some roses at the front of a large leghorn hat that was out of style.

"That accomplished, I went to work on brushing up my accent. I kept thinking back to Union Springs—that's in Alabama where I was born—and along about 3 a. m. I was pretty tired but fairly credible honeychild."

And hear you her—when Miss Claire presented herself backstage next morning not even an actor who knew her well from past Broadway performances recognized that "Northern girl" of the day before.

"I got the part but I was abominable to myself—and everybody else in the cast for days. I was that disgustingly, saccharinely Stuth'n. I was so shy and demure I couldn't even stand myself. But it was all for art and I stuck it through. I sent for my mother to come up and she could no tirelessly reminding me of all idioms I had forgotten."

It's all as natural as breathing now, for Helen Claire, who can laugh about it as she and other members of the original New York cast rehearse with the North Shore Players for tonight's "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" opening at Marlehead.

Bass Rocks Players Give 'Ghost Town,' New Drama

By PEGGY DOYLE

GLOUCESTER, July 17.—Vacationing theatergoers at Bass Rocks Theater last night indicated by their absence that their preference is light and frothy farce rather than serious drama.

Light your comedy up with a "name" star—even one that has not glimmered too recently on Broadway or movie-house marquee—and it's a certitude you'll be in the black on Saturday night.

Last week at Bass Rocks Theater was a case in point. This windswept little theater, which has its own natural air-conditioning system, opened a week ago Monday to a sellout first night with Violet Heming in Noel Coward's comedy, "Private Lives." Heming's expert, light comedy touch enabled the theater management to wind up the most successful week since the season opened.

All of which did not augur well for this week's "Ghost Town," a new play and a very serious one by a young author who bites off more than he can chew, to coin a phrase. He is Gene Kern.

If it were good, the "strawhat" public, being of a mind for things as gay and light as their current wardrobe, wouldn't like it. And as it is a little unfair to them and to the playwright, to submit it to them.

As it is, Mr. Kern never gets his play out of the trenches. It is as bogged down by the philosophical meanderings of its characters that none of them ever get down to the business of coming alive.

Nat Burns, character actor and nephew of the late Nat Goodwin, has been given what should be the comedy role. It is the fattest one, keeping him on the stage most of the time and having more "sides" than any other role in the show. Unhappily, his over-acting and his repetitious line about the temperature being 106 degrees "and it ain't noon yet" defeat the author's intent.

A word must be said for Erik

Barger's settings, which establish the "Ghost Town" atmosphere nicely. It is he, too, who must be credited with the theater's new and smart decorative color scheme of greens and white as well as the arresting lobby art exhibit.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

NEW YORK'S Brenda Frazier, who is famous for her tired feet as well as her plump figure, is one of the smart set.

The four ball tournament is one of Essex County Club and what with parties and walking about following the play of the favorites, there'll be plenty of fatigued feet and tired legs this week in fall.

Mrs. John S. Ames, Jr., Mrs. James Parker, and the Warren girls, Camilla and Lily, did a full round yesterday but still had enough pep left to hop into their cars and drive over to Mrs. Standish Hunk's in Manchester for a tea and committee meeting about five o'clock.

Plays Tennis in Bare Feet

BUT BEFORE WE LEAVE the Essex County Club we should mention that Virginia Backus has solved the tired feet problem... at least as far as tight sneakers are concerned.

After the golf she took the measure of two adversaries at once as she scampered about one of the turf tennis courts in her bare feet... She says, "If the grass tickles your feet it doesn't do a bit of harm, but keeps you moving and improves your game." She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Standish Backus of Grosse Point, Michigan, who always come to Manchester for the summer season.

OVER AT MRS. WINTHROP'S the committee members convened on a pine shaded terrace beside her brown shingled house, "Stone Lea," sipped tea and discussed plans for the Mid-Summer Dance to be held at the Casino in Magnolia, August 4, for the benefit of the North Shore Council of Boy Scouts.

In addition to "Blaise" Ames, "Abbel" Parker and the Warren girls, whose mother, Mrs. Edward Warren, is chairman of the hospitality committee for the four ball tournament, the group included Tillie Tuckerman, Olivia Ames, her aunt, Mrs. E. Wadsworth Hunk, and Mrs. John G. Flint who found the cool, shady setting made to order after a long hot day of shopping in town.

Nancy Blumer came over in sports tops after a swim at Singing Beach so she had left her beautiful engagement ring, slipped on her finger a couple of months ago by Chandler Hovey, Jr., at home in her jewel box... Mrs. John Hall, Jr., is also a member of the fashionable group which is thinking up all sorts of novel features to make the dance a memorable occasion.

Socialites Flock to Cohasset Premiere

THE "K" a jippy Broadway show, starring Libby Holman and Clifton Webb, attracted many prominent socialites to the opening in Cohasset last evening. The show was the first night from Cohasset and nearby communities.

It seemed to be the fashion among the smart set to wear hats with Mrs. Gelston King's saucer hat. The white Brittany rap which topped Dallas James' outfit, caused a bit of neck craning.

Ellet drove down from town escorted by one of the Fay boys of Milton... Barbara Bremer and her mother chatted with some of their Cohasset neighbors during intermission, and Violet Holman, Broadway star, took time out from rehearsals for "Suck on This" and "The End of the Road" to appear on the stage with ten White's dancing from our side of the footlights.

Mrs. Charles Higginson and Mrs. Prescott Cumner, both in summery white, attended together, and the Bancrofts were in their regular seats. Master Mrs. Hunk, Jr., who had a rehearsal week's play, attended with her bridegroom, and wore a cluster of bouquets in her hair to top off a lovely gown of pink chiffon trimmed with black lace.

Lansdale Watson, the William C. Coxes, the John Bishops, were all present... The Tuesday evening opening at Marblehead this week gave Polly Long an opportunity to join the first nighters in her home town... Since her fiancé, Irving Chase, is one of the gang of Harvard Dramatic Club members interested in the new North Shore Players group, she usually journeys to Marblehead on Monday evenings.

SEEN ABOUT TOWN... Mrs. Homer Albers and her daughter, Mrs. John Sabine, (Betty Albers), a recent bride, luncheon at the Ritz in a recent mid-summer afternoon... Mrs. Albers wore a pleated rose print dress with black accessories and her daughter's town costume consisted of a mooshy black bolero suit with a white lace-trimmed blouse.

ELEANOR LITTLE, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Little of Chestnut Hill and Marblehead, will become the bride of Charles C. Buell, ex-Harvard football captain, at a fashionable wedding in King's Chapel, September 7. The wedding party will include several of Charlie's contemporaries in the class of '22 at Harvard, and a number of his former pupils at Milton Academy where he teaches.

Medford Girl Weds in Fall

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Grady of Medford announce the engagement of their daughter, Alma, to Robert D. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Sullivan, of Dorchester. Miss Grady is a graduate of the Massachusetts School of Art, while Mr. Sullivan graduated from Boston College. Plans are being made for a wedding in the fall.

MRS. HARRY HAYWARD TO OPEN ESTATE

Mrs. Harry T. Hayward of Beacon Street is returning from Europe this week to open her estate at Hyannisport for the rest of the summer. Her daughter, Mrs. Harry Hayward Sanders, will be abroad for a few months longer.

Boxy Fur Jackets Tops

By ANNICE BRINK

IT'S SUCH an absolutely perfect style, whether you buy it in costly fitch or in chic, glossy and inexpensive skunk, that the boxy fur jacket just naturally goes on and on.

This season's version has a high, smooth-fitting neckline without sign of a collar. It may do with a decorative jewel-like clasp, as illustrated on our selection today. It's in the body at least, are most often worked vertically to give a smooth, lithe and graceful look. Shoulders have an arrogant shrug. And sleeves are just as wide at the wrist as they are at the shoulder.

All those high fur jackets are a part of the season's really beautiful fur. As chosen to show you the only set.

Now the sport of the day is skunk. It's a fur that's a pleasure to wear and it will look as exciting and new and flattering in the evening as it does over tweeds or your new milk jersey.

FOR SHOPPING information on this new skunk jacket, phone Annice Brink, LIBerty 4000, week-days until 5:30, or write.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You may become a great painter, musician, public lecturer, child psychologist, farmer, or perhaps a caricaturist. You have talent for all these, yet can if you choose, become successful in some field far removed from them. This thing is sure, if you live in a terrific surroundings you'll become nervous, oversensitive. Correct a tendency to too much introspection. Let your hobbies always be worth while.

Peach Recipes Hold Spotlight

By MARTHA LEE

Every year at this time the whole country goes on a great peach eating debauch. It doesn't last long, for unfortunately peaches are among the few fruits that cannot be purchased year round. But most of us make up for the shortness of the season

Here are some unusual ways of serving peaches:

ROLLED PANCAKES FILLED WITH CRUSHED PEACHES

1/2 cup sifted flour
1 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup for frying
Confectioners' sugar

Mix flour, sugar and salt. Com. mix milk and egg, add gradually to flour mixture, stirring until smooth. Mix a little butter in a small frying pan (about 5 1/2 inches in diameter). Pour a very little batter into pan, turning to spread but ter very thin over bottom of pan. Brown edges quickly on both sides. Stack on a warm plate until all cakes are baked. Put a spoonful of crushed sugared peaches on each pancake, roll like a jelly roll, sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve on individual plates. This recipe makes 12 small thin pan-cakes.

PEACH CHIFFON PIE

1 pkg. lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup peach pulp
2 egg whites
1/2 tsp. salt
Baked pastry shell

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water.

Prepare peach pulp by peeling, pitting and coarse sieve. Add lemon gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 tsp. salt. Pour into pan.

BRANDED PEACHES

8 to 12 canned peach halves
1/4 cup peach pulp
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup heavy cream
Cook syrup 1/2 hour for 5 minutes. Add peach halves, stir up in syrup, add with ginger, pour over fruit in oven. Cook and bake in moderate oven, 350 de. F., for 10 minutes.

KEEP U. S. OUT OF WAR —Be Neutral—

THE PUBLIC is very sensitive to the prices of gasoline," Mr. Keefe explains, "and avoids states that have high taxes on this fuel."

"The public is very sensitive to the prices of gasoline," Mr. Keefe explains, "and avoids states that have high taxes on this fuel."

GOVERNOR SALTONSTALL, OPENS TOURIST BOOTH With His Administration Now Hangs a "Keep Out" Sign on It!

"Many automobile clubs, in selecting routes of travel, de-tour the high tax States. It must be realized that Massachusetts has no monopoly on the scenic attractions of New England. We are in competition with the neighboring States for the very profitable tourist trade."

"If we make our State less attractive by a high gasoline tax, business will suffer."

Mr. Keefe's statement is supported by FACTS and COMMON SENSE. Already Massachusetts takes $26,631,000 from automobile owners and operators an amount sufficient to provide $14,210 for every mile of surfaced highway within the State.

In the past 12 years, while taxes on real estate have been rising 19 per cent, the tax burden on motor vehicles has increased ONE HUNDRED AND TEN PER CENT.

If the Legislature bows to Mr. Saltonstall and accepts his money raising program, Massachusetts will have a gasoline tax higher than those imposed in 26 States and the District of Columbia.

That is why Mr. Keefe protests that tourist maps would picture Massachusetts as a black state, and one that travelers would be averse to visiting.

It is also possible to remember that part of the Governor's Inauguration Day address which said:

"Massachusetts is a great recreational center, and WE MUST ENCOURAGE citizens from ALL OVER THE NATION to visit with us and to enjoy the beauties of our landscape and the pleasures of our shores."

"An influx of visitors to Massachusetts means MORE JOBS created for our citizens."

THOUSANDS of North Shore residents are joining in the fight to prevent abandonment of service on the Old Colony Railroad.

When the words of Attorney General Paul A. Dever that "THE WILL OF THE NEW HAVEN HAVE SHOWN UTTER DISREGARD FOR MASSACHUSETTS STATUTES" ringing in their ears more than 150 representatives of cities and towns across the road have been spurred to carry the battle forward with new vigor.

Attorney General Dever in his call to arms said: "The public should NOT BE DEPRIVED OF PASSENGER SERVICE without a strict compliance with the public laws. This is a defiance of the statutes which the state will not tolerate."

"A CULT OF POWER" is responsible for the current unrest in Europe, between Dr. Rostow, former dean of Harvard's law school, who calls for the removal of "demagogues" as wholly unimportant and harmless.

Students of history will be required to agree with this distinction, and the fact that the students who have studied the Old World are the ones who have studied the New World.

Mothers' Meeting

WHEN little mothers meet, they air... the latest views on child welfare... An eaves-dropper, if lurking near... something like this would doubtless hear:

"My baby gets her Vitamin B... and likes her milk and orange juice... but when it comes to spinach, she... for spinach simply has no use... It doesn't pay to coax and tease... for children should do as they please... All leading educators say... they best express themselves that way."

From which, you might say, it appears... that little pitchers have big ears.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 25—The days continue to be cool and beautiful, but the need of rain is growing more and more apparent. Nothing grows and some things are beginning to wither.

My husband, after a tour of inspection of his young Christmas trees, planted this spring, found the percentage of loss appalling. They had tried to water them, but with a rather primitive watering cart which takes about a week to water the area covered by the young trees. Of course, that is not enough water for them to survive.

Someone asked me not long ago to pray daily for peace in the world and I am beginning to think that I shall add a prayer for rain, and hope that many other people will do the same.

SATURDAY we had about ten children ramping in and out of the pool, and it is fun to see children enjoy themselves. Mr. and Mrs. George Carlin brought up their five children, my cousin, Mrs. Alexander Grant, came with her father, Frederic Delano, bringing a very lovely 18-year-old daughter and two small boys, one her own and one the son of a friend.

Our vector, Mr. Wilson, and his wife brought their three boys and to this medley of parents and children were added Alexander Woolcott and his secretary, Mrs. Francis Parkinson Keyes and our own guests with our cottage in-

Human Side of News

THERE ISN'T, of course, a chance in ten billion that anybody up in the sky is reading the dark poetry of California's Helen Jon Jeffers. Just the same, you may know, Jeffers is the chap whose cadenced lines insist that in his desperate world "meteors are not needed less than mountains." And certainly we are having a rash of meteors these days over Detroit, the other town with such a roaring spread that it is by thousands of spots and lines in the sky, and thereby perhaps saved the very of that now automobile who hoped to have this week-end. They saw nothing. They only heard the meteor that crossed Lake Erie, "streaming like the wind," and exploded terrifically among Canadian pines.

MOREOVER, only the week before, half of Oregon, a state plainly unable to take its meteors or leave them alone, went a-hunting something noisy that trained a trail of fire, crossed water, broke with laws, known as K. P. D. into a "meteor" hit and then tore up to have taken most of the good people of Portland.

No sunshine with a new-real camera caught the big bang, but a few months earlier, in Texas, Paul Peters got a picture of the meteor that showed up there in this year's merry May. His target was revealed upon the plate as a wriggly streak.

A skeptic might have argued pretty solidly that it was only a lightning flash. But Peters swore it was more like a bomb and thousands of Texans agreed that it was a meteor, sure enough. That extraordinary testimony was a help to Peters.

Mrs. Ichikawa Jaui, of Yokohama, however, was convincing in her evidence of a meteoric experience she had last April, even though she stood alone. When-never had as a guest. His fund of tales is endless and always varied and interesting. My cousin, Monroe Robinson, who was staying with us, had to leave right after lunch and our own guests left at around 5:30 o'clock.

LATER we drove down to Secretary and Mrs. Morgenthau's home for their annual clambake, given for the entire party which comes up here with the President. As usual, the setting was very beautiful. The lawn, ringed about by hills with the shadows growing deeper as the sun went down and finally with the moon shining out above us, is a really unforgettable scene.

These colored entertainers, headed by "Hugbie," played and sang. Though there was less music talent than usual in the company, we did get some general singing and were particularly fortunate in having Mrs. Archibald McLeish, who arrived in the afternoon with her husband to stay with us.

We enjoyed the bonfire and later went into the house and danced. At last the Virginia reel seems to have become popular and we had a roomful doing it in a most enthusiastic fashion.

Sunday morning, the President, Major Henry Hooker and I went to church. Basking in the sun with a dip in the pool was the program for this afternoon. A thoroughly lazy two days!

reported her personal meteor, there was the big, hot stone resting on her kitchen floor, evidence enough to have convinced even a one-eyed judge.

The thing had plopped through the roof while Mrs. Jaui was warning the baby's bottle. One doubtful neighbor argued that if it really were a meteor it would have gone straight through the floor and on to Hades. But Jaui insisted, hustling home to share the story, had remembered to stop at Yokohama's public library for an encyclopedia. That gave the unbeliever his come-uppance.

IT SAID that although meteors break all speed laws through space, they diminish as they near this earth, and when they land they are travelling no faster than ordinary falling bodies, just a few hundred feet a second. To clinch the point, Mr. Jaui read of a meteor that fell in Sweden, in 1849, on ice a few inches thick and bounced.

Meteors have been bouncing or bombing on our old earth ever since there was a man to turn startled eyes upon such portents.

If it should turn out that someone up there in the sky has heard Mr. Jeffers' somber pronouncement and is dropping meteors on purpose, he could help a lot by calling his shots from now on.

Crash Kills Father Just as Stork Comes

MOTHERS' DAY (AP) Mrs. Ruth Motte of White Plains, N. Y., was told by a doctor that her husband was dying.

BACK HOME after a wild victory surge in which they won 17 out of 22 ball games, the Red Sox are entitled to receive an ovation from Boston and New England fans as they clash with the Chicago White Sox.

Even if the Sox fail to overhaul the Yanks in the hectic pennant scramble they have proved they do not fear any ball club. The Sox feat of winning five straight games from Joe McCarthy's world's champions in New York will long be remembered by those persons who admire ability and courage in athletic competition.

The only lapse the Sox had in their pennant mad drive was in Chicago where after winning the first game of the series they dropped four straight to the White Sox. A team that has been traveling at the clip set by the Sox was entitled to a brief slump. The fact the Sox came back easily and swept the series with the Browns was proof of the rallying power of the men of Cronin.

Improved pitching has been the dominant reason for the splendid showing of the Sox. The Yawkeys have always possessed power, but it has often been of little avail on account of the wretched work of some of the flingers.

The Sox pitchers have been a tower of defensive strength, and as a result the batters have not been obliged to carry the entire burden. You will usually find that a ball club that is winning is getting good pitching.

The Sox have also had sensational batting by youthful Ted Williams. The latter has pounded out 16 home runs, while he leads both leagues in the number of runs batted in.

Jimmy Fox has connected for 19 home runs, and is in the midst of a sensational hitting streak. The other Sox power hitters have also been holding up their end of the batting barrage.

Lu Finney, utility player, has been helpful to the Sox machine. He has filled in at first base for Fox, and also in the outfield, while he has been very successful as a pinch hitter.

Jimmy Dykes' White Sox Going on High

THE WHITE SOX, like Joe Cronin's club, is going on high. It won four out of five games from the Red Sox, and then took two out of three tussles from the Yanks.

The White Sox have been getting good pitching, fine batting and excellent fielding. The team is imbued with the spirit of victory, and will strive to turn back the Yawkeys in the present series.

I believe the White Sox will find the job less difficult than the Red Sox did to defeat at Fenway Park than they were in Chicago.

During the present home stay, the Red Sox will oppose Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Washington. By the time the club goes on the road again one will know definitely whether the Cronins have a chance to win the American League pennant.

On the recent road trip, the Sox reduced the lead of the Yanks from 12½ games to 7½ games. That was making progress.

The Fresh Busher

They are calling Ted Williams a fresh busher because he tells rival pitchers what he is going to do, and then goes out and does it. I wish there were more players who could call their shots like Ted. A young ball player must have confidence in himself if he is going to get anywhere in the majors.

THOMAS IRAYNOR.

Boost for Sisti

I know you will see Sebastian Sisti. He's took a infielder. Like Eddie Miller and Phil Mast, Sisti is a natural ball player. He can field, throw and hit. The injury to Miller will give Sisti the opportunity.

Ramdom Shots at Target

LOU SMITH and Tom McCoy expressed themselves as pleased with the 12,000 crowd and $200,000 gate at the opening of the Rockingham Park. The race track, which was closed on the morning of the opening, and made it more convenient for the cash customers. The 50 cent admission was also a success, according to Smith and McCoy. There was not any delay as the fans poured through the turnstiles dropping their 50 cent pieces into the machines.

Charles F. Adams and John T. Lambert of Suffolk Downs and Judge James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park were at the Rockingham opening. Along with George H. Fall, president of Saratoga.

John K. Macomber of Framingham, who has done much for racing, was pleased when Grieswark, a member of his racing stable, won the first race of the Rockingham meeting. Long shot players had their innings as Rheatus, Lady Flash and Our Bud won. Our Bud could have been played on the racing form he showed at Suffolk Downs. Most of the bettors thought Our Bud couldn't run other than in the mud, but he fooled them.

When Lady Orchid collapsed on the track following the running of the first race, race goers were chilled. When a thoroughbred loses, the public seldom gives the horse credit for being ill as is often the case.

Chisox Hit Fenway for 3-Day Stay!

Only 5 ft., 7½ in., there's 170 pounds of baseball dynamite packed into the compact frame of Mike Kreevich. Fenway fans like to watch this fleet-footed Wheaties eater cover his centerfield patrol for the White Sox. A batter of the eagle-eyed variety, Kreevich is cool in the clutch—a consistent .300 hitter. Hurlers can pitch their pet delivery, but it makes no difference to Mike. "If you want to find out what is my favorite breakfast," advises Kreevich, "just pitch me a package of Wheaties!" Ask your grocer for a pitch-out of one of those big orange and blue packages, that famous product of General Mills, Inc., Wheaties! Then you, too, can enjoy that championship taste sensation: a "Breakfast of Champions." Wheaties, with plenty of milk or cream, and some fresh fruit!

Do ball players watch their weight? You bet they do! Luke Appling, 155 lb., Chicago shortstop, examines the weighing machine dial just to make sure that the line, top, is on the proper number. Ted Lyons, isn't tipping the beam over 200, his best playing weight. Both Luke and Ted stay away plenty of Wheaties. They eat those delicious toasted whole wheat flakes because they like 'em. And there's lots of hearty nourishment delivered by "the best breakfast food in the land." Why don't you try Wheaties? You'll probably agree that they sure taste swell!

SAINTS FIX EYE ON 2D PLACE

St. Alphonsus A. A. continues the drive to the second place in the East division of the Boston Park League when they go to East Boston tonight to engage the Star of the Sea club in one of four two tussles scheduled.

St. Al's are after their fifth straight win, nailing their fourth last night at Fens, where they edged the Murphy club.

Star of the Sea was beaten last night and now occupy the cellar of the West group, vacated by the Navy Yard last night, when the fleetmen, with Mussel on the rubber, turned back St. Augustine's.

St. Catherine's go to Rogers Park in Brighton tonight, where the Murphy club will be bidding for a return to the ranks of the winning clubs, and Joe McCarthy of the Saints will probably name O'Brien to prevent the Murphies return.

The South Boston-Dorchester inter-sectional series will move back to the home of the South Boston Town Club at Lee Park and, following last night's tie with the Dick Casey Club, Town Club strategist Ray Cooldidge looks for a win in his home park, while Dick will send Callahan or Sammy White to the hill.

Crowd Greet

Red Sox Squad On Return Home

A gathering of close to 200—including wives, friends and a handful of ever-faithful fans, gathered at the Huntington Ave. Station last night to greet the Red Sox on arrival home from St. Louis.

The triumphant athletes were given a warm welcome in appreciation of their climbing to 7 1/2 games back of the Yanks by winning 17 of 22 games on the road, including five straight from the Yanks.

The crowd was anxious for a glimpse of Joe Cronin, but the Sox pilot got off at New-tonville.

King Leading Midget Drivers

Realizing that new faces add interest, speed kings from Connecticut and New York who have never raced on local tracks before will head for Medford, Thursday night to take part in the brilliant midget auto card arranged at the Riverside Park Speedway.

While these new drivers will provide added color, those fans who turn out regularly every Thursday night are looking forward to two big events in the coming program.

They are anxious to see whether the defeat Oscar Ridlon pinned on Bob King in a special match race was really due to a mishap in King's car as Bob claims or whether Ridlon is really the better match race driver. Ridlon gladly consented to give King a return race on the same basis—winner take all.

The feature is the second point of interest and it again involved King. All this year King has never been caught from behind in a feature and for that reason is leading the New England championship race.

Last Thursday night, though, Anderson passed King a half-lap from the finish and in passing on the inside he forced King into the fence. This not only meant a loss of points and a cash prize, but it wrecked King's car and Bob is out to settle that little score Thursday night.

Sid Luckman Signs With Chicago Bears

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP).—Sid Luckman, former Columbia University football star, will play with the Chicago Bears of the National Professional League this fall.

Luckman, considered one of the best forward passers in the game, was obtained by the Bears in the annual draft, but had been undecided until recently whether he would enter the professional sport.

ARNOVICH TAKING NOSE DIVE

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 (AP).—Morrie Arnovich will have to shake himself like little Egypt, the shimmy dancer, to shoo a slump that threatens his National League batting leadership.

"Whenever I feel I'm lightening up," the Phils' peppy left fielder announced a few days ago, "I step out of the batter's box and shake myself to loosen up."

ONE HIT IN 15 TRIES

If that's Morrie's formula, he'd better wiggle during the Phils' current western trip or he may soon taste dust from the heels of Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals and Zeke Bonura of the New York Giants. They're now second and third, respectively.

Although Arnovich still tops the senior circuit with a .365 average in the last four games his average is a microscopic .067, one hit in 15 times up.

Morrie went hitless in a doubleheader against the Cincinnati Reds on Sunday. He drew two bases on balls, but on seven official trips to the plate he fanned, popped out or tapped easy rollers.

HAS 21-POINT LEAD

Morrie experienced a slump two months ago when he was blanked in three successive games against the Cardinals and Chicago Cubs.

Until recently, however, he was meeting the ball squarely instead of smacking easy flies.

The Superior, Wis., outfielder still holds a lead of 21 points over Mize, however, and has hit safely in 67 of the 80 games played by the Phils.

Boston Girls Beaten In Seabright Tennis

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 25 (AP).—Three seeded performers in the women's singles division in the 52d annual Seabright invitation tournament registered second-round victories today, but a fourth, Helen Pedersen of Stamford, Ct., fell by the wayside.

Miss Pedersen was upset by youthful Patricia Canning of Alameda, Cal., 6-1, 6-0. The Stamford girl was no match for the steadily improving Westerner, whose brilliant placements caught her flat-footed.

Top-seeded Dorothy Bundy, Californian, who is favored to succeed Alice Marble as winner of the Seabright Bowl, was pressed to the limit to defeat flops Knowles of Philadelphia, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles, seeded behind Miss Bundy, polished off Millicent Hirsch of New York, 6-1, 6-2, while Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco overcame Edna Smith, Cleveland, O., school teacher, 6-4, 6-2.

Others reaching the quarterfinals were Marilyn McRae of Little Rock, Ark., who put out Mrs. Virginia Rice Johnson of Boston, 4-6, 6-2, 9-7; Helen Bernhard of New York, who trimmed Catherine Malcom of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-3; and Mme. Sylvia Heron of France, conqueror of Katherine Winthrop of Boston, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

WOMEN'S SINGLES (Second Round)

Dorothy Bundy, Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Hope Knowles, Philadelphia, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Virginia Wolfenden, San Francisco, Cal., defeated Edna Smith, Cleveland, O., 6-4, 6-2.

Helen Bernhard, New York, defeated Catherine Malcom, Los Angeles, Cal., 6-2, 6-3.

Gloriant Wins Mackinac Race

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 25 (AP).—The yacht Gloriant led a fleet of seven closely bunched sailing boats across the finish line of the Chicago-Mackinac Island race early today.

Arriving at 5:47:44 a. m., the Gloriant was just a minute and on second ahead of the second place Warrior. Elapsed time for the 331-mile haul from Chicago was 62 hours, 47 minutes and 44 seconds.

The Windigo, a New York boat, which led all entrants across the finish line in the Detroit-Mackinac Island race a week ago, finished third less than a half a minute behind the Warrior, and the Tomahawk slid across the line just a few seconds later.

Other boats in the close finish were the Hornet, the Mainstay and the Jolly Lady, in that order.

Gambler Sought In Dope Quiz

NEW YORK, July 26 (INS)—William Morrison of Albany, known as "Scouty," was being sought for questioning by the Nassau County authorities today following an investigation into reported doping of horses at Belmont Park and Aqueduct.

Dist. Atty. Edward J. Neary said that, in addition to Morrison, one Dick Holman and a third person are being sought as the result of an affidavit by Peter Panza, a singing waiter and the first to be arrested as a result of the inquiry. Panza is free in $5000 bail pending grand jury action. Harvey Kessler, apprentice jockey, and Allan D. McNamee, exercise boy, are held in "protective custody."

Roller Gridders In Debut Tonight At Beehive

A streamline version of football played on roller skates is the newest thriller in the world of sport, which will be offered to Boston fans for the first time this evening in a twin-bill at National League Field.

Featuring the doubleheader at the Beehive will be the battle between the Boston Aces, captained by Ernie Scott of Wakefield, and the New York White Sox, led by Ernie Scott, once of Providence, but now a resident of Troy, N. Y.

The clash will headline the show, but there is a possibility that the minor attraction may steal the plaudits of the night for two girls' teams, one from Boston and the other from New York, meet in the preliminary.

Resides these two games, there will be speed skating races between halves, open to amateurs and professionals from all over the country for cash prizes and trophy awards. There will be at least four big races carried, in order to keep the action rolling from the opening gun until the windup, which figures to arrive close to midnight.

Man Who Hooks Fish Gets Sea Pool, Skipper Decides

By DARK MONTREAL

Freddie Perkins comes up with this one to start the day with a puzzle and a laugh:

The $41 pool aboard the fishing boat, Myrtle, on Sunday, was won by one Matthews with a big haddock. Or was it?

Matthews was fishing from the top deck with rod and reel and when he had his fish on the surface alongside had to yell for someone to gaff it. The gaff was a little slow coming up and when a fellow angler finally leaned over the rail to iron the fish, it shook loose from the hook. It was swimming away when the gaff man (on the gilly, as we say in Scotland) made a wild lunge after it, sunk his iron and hoisted the fish aboard.

Whose fish and whose prize? The gaffer claimed the fish, said it was a free fish when captured. He naively offered to split the pool, 50-50, with the man who hoisted the haddock from the bottom. How would you decide?

First Mate Sorenson settled the argument by ruling that the fish and pool belonged to the rod and reel angler and made this observation:

"You fish all day with that gaff and you wouldn't catch so much as a fishy smell."

The gaffer had to be satisfied with 10 per cent of the pool money.

Sunday's smart, easterly all but ruined the offshore fishing except in Buzzards Bay and on the back side of the Cape. To learn what the fishermen do when he can't get off shore to fish I made the rounds of several favorite places. The answer is that when he can't get off shore to fish the fishermen fishes off the shore.

At the canal jetty in Sandwich, at the state pier in Buzzards Bay, at the Buzzards Bay highway bridge and the new Wareham highway bridge and at several places along the canal shore, there were crowds of anglers. I saw some big flounder and fair tautog take off the canal jetty, some good flounders off the state pier, and I saw one fellow reel stripped of 500 yards of line in the canal tied run by a fish that hit a herring bait in the same spot where Alce Anderson caught his 25-pound striped last week. Handling a heavy fish in that tide run is sport calling for heavy tackle.

Later I drove over to the Wewamisset River to try for stripers and squitcrabs. Very few stripers were landed at John Allen's or Oscar Weech's, though Saturday was a good day at both places. Weech reports a school of snapper blues in the river Saturday—first he has seen.

Word of Dick Hoyer's successful battle with a big Ipswich Bay tuna "his first—brings back to mind a hunting incident I have been trying to forget and live down.

It was an icy cold November day last year, and the smart bird dog trainer and I were shivering in a blind on Pleasant Bay at Orleans, cursing 'two or three hundred geese that had waited, noisily, out of gun range, and showed no disposition to work any closer to the blind.

Black duck and teal were flying well within range, but the geese that came over to drop in with the raft always swung outside the point where we were hidden. We'd about given up hope of getting a shot at the Canadas when Dick grabbed my arm and whispered:

"Down! Look what's headed straight over!"

A dozen big geese were headed straight for the blind, flying low coming out of the north and preparing to drop in with the rafted birds.

"Take out your number two shot and put in your fours," Dick whispered. "They're coming right over."

We crouched low, tumbling with the guns, fumbling in our pockets to make the switch to the heavier goose load. On came the birds with that lazily deceptive wing motion, and both guns clicked shut. The geese were almost dead overhead, not 70 feet high when Dick said:

"Okay, give it to 'em!"

We both stood, we both pulled triggers. Dick's gun blammed twice and I heard pellets go "Phfft, Phfft, Phfft," in goose feathers.

The line of geese didn't waver, didn't speed up, went steadily on and over, the leader big as your hat (or mine) against the sun. A few feathers drifted down. I all but threw the gun after those birds.

"Well," said Dick, after a long silence, "I can explain what happened as far as I'm concerned. I took out the fours and I reached in the wrong pocket and put more fours back in the gun. But why didn't you shoot?"

"Because," I said, swallowing hard, "when I took out my fours I neglected to put anything back in."

So we picked up and went home. All of which is a little out of season except for word from Dick, as follows:

"Paul Bauer wants you to fish Wednesday and I just want to remind you to have line on your reel."

HARBOR RESCUE!

1. Saved—When Mrs. Vina Farr, 58, slipped from gangplank and plunged into harbor opposite Commercial street, her barge-captain husband, Charles V. Farr, 62, plunged in after her and held her up till police arrived. Here, the woman is being taken from the water.

2. Shaken—After rescuing Mrs. Vina Farr, the captain was pulled from the water, only slightly the worse for his experience. Then Mrs. Farr was taken to an ambulance for treatment at City Hospital. Here, the woman is being lifted to her feet.

3. All's Well Now—In the ambulance, Capt. Farr comforts his wife, who was reported in serious condition at City Hospital. However, she is expected to recover.
